

Digital Storytelling: Student Communications

Document author
Sebastian May
Sent via email and Teams on 31 October 2023, 11.30	Hello UAL Online Student Partners Hub, I'm excited to let you know that we are planning to launch another research project next week. This upcoming creative project is an investigation into digital storytelling and how digital storytelling may support connectedness among creative students. The project is set to start next week and run until the end of November. We have allocated up to 3 hours per person and anyone in this group will be able to take part. The project will use Miro and Padlet, and take place entirely online. Because the project aligns with my work on UAL's PgCert Academic Practice in Art, Design and Communication, you will be asked to complete an additional consent form. This will be made available to you with all the project information next week. In the meantime, you can read our project request sheet on SharePoint to find out more. If you would like to take part, simply look out for the project launch next week, when we will circulate a link to further project information and a consent form, followed by more detailed activity instructions. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to let us know. Best wishes, Sebastian

Sent via email and Teams on 8 November 2023, 14:00	Hello everyone, I'm excited to let you know that our digital storytelling project is now live! To take part, just: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Download and read the project information</li> <li>2) Provide your consent via the online form (use your UAL email address and the password 'storytelling' to log-in)</li> </ol> You can then: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>3) Download, read and start with the activity instructions</li> <li>4) Complete the evaluation questionnaire</li> </ol> Project activities in total should take up to 3 hours to complete and the project will close on Thursday, 30 November (at midnight); although early submissions are encouraged. Feel free to use this space on Teams to discuss, ask questions, etc., and just let me know if anything is unclear. I can't wait to see all your contributions and find out what you thought of the project! Best wishes, Sebastian
Sent via Teams on 15 November 2023, 14:00	Hi all, It's great to see that 4 of you have already signed up to the storytelling project. There are just a couple more weeks to go on the project, so if you have any questions about anything at all, please let me know. If you're not sure if you should join the project, also drop me a note and we can chat, but it would be amazing to have as many as you as possible take part. While the project

	documentation might come across as a little formal, it should be a fun activity to explore! As a reminder, to take part, you'll just need to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Download and read the project information</li> <li>2) Provide your consent via the online form (use your UAL email address and the password 'storytelling' to log-in)</li> </ol> You can then: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>3) Download, read and start with the activity instructions</li> <li>4) Complete the evaluation questionnaire</li> </ol> Also, if you're working on more than one project, it would be great if you could add the project name into your Arts Temps timesheet notes when submitting your hours, just so we can keep track of everything. Thank you and chat soon! Sebastian
Sent via Teams and email on 22 November 2023, 14:00	Hi everyone, I hope you're well and you're enjoying your term so far. Officially our storytelling project is scheduled to end next week, and it would be brilliant to get more of you involved in the activity. Some of you have already started to populate the Padlet and contributed to the Miro, which is amazing. As a reminder, to take part, you'll just need to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Download and read the project information</li> <li>2) Provide your consent via the online form (use your UAL email address and the password 'storytelling' to log-in)</li> </ol> You can then: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>3) Download, read and start with the activity instructions</li> </ol>

	4) Complete the evaluation questionnaire All of these 4 tasks are part of the project and you will be paid for your time on each of the tasks as per usual (and as is outlined in the brief). If you would like to take part but you're short of time due to other commitments, please let me know as well and we can see if we can adjust any project timelines for you. As always, if you have any questions, let us know as well. Otherwise we look forward to seeing your stories come through over the coming days! Best wishes, Sebastian
Sent via Teams and email on 29 November 2023, 10:35	Quick mid-week update! Due to popular demand, we're extending the storytelling activity into December for those of you who need a little longer to complete it. We would still urge you to make your submissions as soon as you can, as we're starting to analyse some of first submissions over the coming days, but just take a look as and when you can. We full appreciate that you have lots of other things going on too. Thank you to those of you who have already made your submissions, it's been brilliant reading your contributions and stories, they're fantastic! sandcastle Also! We are planning to organise a short and informal 30-minute end-of-year check in for everyone on 13 December, so look out for an invitation from us. We just thought it would be nice to touch base, answer questions any of you might have, and simply to say hello. There's nothing to prepare for this. If you're unavailable, we'll record this session and you can watch it another time. And you'll be compensated for your time as per usual.
Sent via email on 29 November 2023, 10:35	Subject: UAL Online Student Partners: Digital Storytelling Project Dear [Name], I hope you're having a nice week so far. As you might have seen, we have extended our digital storytelling project into December, and so I just wanted to see if you would be able to / want to participate? Is there any other information or help that we could provide? Hopefully the additional time to complete the project will be useful. Please don't hesitate to let us know if you need anything else, we're happy to help. Best wishes, Sebastian UAL Online

Sent via Teams on 12 December 2023, 8:27	Morning everyone and happy Tuesday, this is just a quick #storytelling reminder to please make sure to complete the evaluation questionnaire after you have posted your story to the Miro board, if you haven't already that is. 😊 I'm loving all your stories so far, they're brilliant, do keep them coming! (We look forward to seeing some of you tomorrow online.) ❤️
Sent via Teams on 15 December 2023, 16:20	Hi UAL Online Student Partners Hub, I just wanted to confirm that our #storytelling project will remain open for submissions until Sunday, 31 December and close at midnight (UK time), at which point the evaluation survey will close as well. If you're planning to submit your story during the festive break, you may want to double-check that you can access the different forms, the Padlet and Miro in advance. We've had some brilliant submissions already, so thank you everyone for contributing. Wishing you all a lovely weekend! 🌞